

MANAGERS COMMENT

Hi all
Field Days are nearly upon us again. This event just seems to get bigger and bigger every year. Check out our Field days details below...

I sometimes wonder if anyone gets tired of me pushing the message about backing up data and disaster recovery... unfortunately many people still haven't grasped the importance of some form of disaster recovery plan. That plan can be as simple as making sure that you have regular data backups. Am I hearing you say it will never happen to me. Bad move. It can happen to anyone and it doesn't have to be business data either. We have experienced clients recently who have lost all their family photos, children growing up , holidays etc. Not a great thought. As for our business clients already this year we have had a number who have lost the majority of their data. Not just annoying but it can have some serious implications for the business. Frustrating for the client who now realises that for the cost of a portable hard drive and some backup software it could have all been avoided. If you don't have this one covered off then you need to talk to us today.

And don't forget if you are out at the Field Days drop into our tent and say hello.

So if you are moving put us on the list to inform. That way you won't be without that essential Internet once you have moved into your new place.
